THE BIG FAT YEAR END KISS OFF COMEDY SHOW XXVII

For the 27th consecutive year, this merry band of pranksters take their end-of-the-year comedy extravaganza to the Bay Area's far-flung nooks and crannies, in order to salve the soul of our intrepid denizens via a hilarious extended New Year's celebration where humor and parking abound.

Starting on the 27th of December, three days before the celebration of the birth of the tiny Jewish kid through the first Sunday of the New Year, the troupe is prepared to lampoon, satirize, mock, scoff, scorn, taunt, tease, rib and ridicule the people and events of the past year and often do it with a modicum of taste and decorum. And then again, perhaps not.

The 27th edition of the Big Fat Year End Kiss Off Comedy Show features an uproarious collection of skits, songs, sketches, and stand-up, all based on the wacky zany antics that occurred during the calendar year of 2019. Some years are not very conducive as subjects of humourousity, but this one was a cornucopia of delights with Donald Trump, hurricanes, sharpies, dozens of democrats and the continuing saga of "Wall or not to Wall." It was lush like a tropical rainforest. Providing enough grist for the comedic mill to fill multiple 2-hour shows. But we will only be doing one. Cherry-picking all the best for you.

Continuing a holiday tradition as hallowed as the coal in John Bolton's stocking and as welcome as the Bloody Mary mix at Charlie Sheen's Ash Wednesday hangover brunch, The Big Fat Year End Kiss Off Comedy Show consists of 5 comics, special comedic guests, 9 cities, 10 shows and a minimum 2,347 laughs.
